MATTEO OSIO

DATA ANALYTICS ENGINEER

ABOUT ME!

Data analytics engineer from Italy living in Berlin who loves to organize and play with data while discovering the latest technologies in the market.

I've been working for the past 6 years in the data world as a business intelligence developer first and as a data engineer after. During my experiences i learnt how to build scalable and efficient data solutions while being process, performance and business oriented.

Bridging the gap between business and tech is my strength.
